Mediamounts welcomes FLUID™ to their Wall Mount Portfolio

Aesthetically pleasing and ergonomically designed, this engineered certified, wall mounted workstation provides maximum flexibility, at strategic points of care, for the busy healthcare professional.

Cambridge, ON – (August, 2008) – www.mediamounts-fluidarm.com - Mediamounts, a leading manufacturer of display mounting solutions, is proud to introduce Fluid™, an arm designed with the healthcare provider in mind. This completely accommodating wall mounted arm quickly and easily adjusts, to your personal needs, from sitting to standing, with effortless single-handed motion.

Side-stepping conventional wall mount designs, the Fluid™ arm allows for 180° lateral movement, 36" reach and 14" of height adjustment – all characteristics of a product that is designed with personalization in mind. With the simple addition of the optional extension arm, the Fluid™ gives even more flexibility – an impressive 270° lateral movement all the while maintaining the compact 8" storage from the wall.

Aesthetically pleasing and extremely durable, Fluid™ is constructed of 95% anodized aluminum, finished with an anti-microbial paint and is designed for round the clock use. Ideally situated at the bedside, for patient documentation, this arm is guaranteed to last a lifetime in the most demanding of healthcare environments.

“More and more, healthcare professionals are looking for ways to improve their work environment and increase the focus on exceptional patient care” notes Sharon Perissinotti, Marketing Manager at Mediamounts. This was Mediamounts driving force to develop a wall mounted arm that addressed both the healthcare provider and the patient.

Mediamounts, your healthcare IT partner, is committed to developing solutions that provide engineered certified, ergonomically designed, fully functional products that facilitate better and more effective patient care.
